The risk and reward indicator illustrates where the Sub-Fund is positioned in terms of its possible risk and reward. The higher the Sub-Fund's position on this scale, the greater the possible reward, but also the greater the risk of losing money. Even if the Sub-Fund is in the lowest risk class you can lose money as no investments are entirely risk free. The risk indicator is calculated using historical data and therefore cannot be used as a prediction for the future. The risk classification may change over time.

Why is this Sub-Fund in this category?

The Sub-Fund is subject to a medium/high level of risk being linked to typical risks of securities markets, such as macro-economic trends. At this time, the level of risk and reward profile is equal to 4.

Not all risks affecting the Fund are adequately captured by the synthetic risk indicator. The following risks may affect the Fund:

Operational risk - That may occur due to technical issues for example natural disasters and fraud.

Currency risk - When the Sub-Fund invests in assets denominated in a different currency. A devaluation of the asset's currency relative to the currency of the Sub-Fund will lead to a reduction in the value of the Sub-Fund.

Derivative risk - Use of derivatives results in a higher possibility of loss due to the use of leverage, or borrowing. Derivatives allow investors to earn greater returns from small movements in the underlying asset's price. However, investors could lose large amounts if the price of the underlying asset moves against them significantly.

Credit default risks - The Sub-Fund invests in debt securities which are subject to the credit default risk of the issuers of the debt.

Asset backed securities risk - The Sub-Fund invests in asset-backed securities (ABS), which covers a wide range of securities each of which is backed by a particular type of assets. The Sub-Fund may be susceptible to losses resulting from defaults within the ABS portfolios. Furthermore the ABS liquidity may be reduced in times of stressed and volatile markets.
